Thank you for your request for copies and/or digital images of objects, photographs, or archives from the Arden Archives and the Arden Craft Shop Museum.

The Arden Craft Shop Museum's mission is to collect, exhibit and educate the public on the history of the Ardens which include the towns of Arden, Ardentown and Ardencroft. The Arden Craft Shop Museum seeks to educate the community on the history of the Ardens as single-tax communities in addition to the roles that theater, craftsmanship, art, and other aspects of life affected the development of the Ardens as a close knit community.

Part of our mission, we also encourage the use of our collections by researchers. We feel that it is imperative that our history be shared and accessible to the public. As a part of this we require all those persons, publications, or institutions that seek to use our collections for either research or publication give credit to our institution and managing organization. We also ask that all papers and publications written will properly acknowledge and credit the Arden Craft Shop Museum.
